2 Imm. BFB were moving along thru the Sesuvium on the side of lagoon - both making attempts at swallowing something, but each time the object was dropped by one and the other would pick it up and make attempts to swallow it - only to drop it etc. When I came up to them, the object turned out to be a SB tern downy chick. A small colony of gray backs were nesting here - mostly all with small chicks. The chick worked by the boobies was dead. Whether or not they killed it is hard to say. It was not decomposed - appeared to be only freshly killed.
